

END CAPS

Novostrat Polyethylene Foam may be used to create many different types of end caps to provide cushioning and impact resistance for sensitive equipment e.g. computers, medical devices, laboratory equipment etc.

Please contact our sales department for individual specifications.

